

The Trust and our catering partner Aspens wanted to inform you that effective from 13th April the meal price in our schools will increase to £2.70

The challenges we're seeing in our kitchens are the same as those you're likely experiencing at home. Ingredient prices are rocketing, and energy costs are sky high. Additionally, we're funding important National Minimum wage increases for the catering teams. Here is some background information that we would like to share with you.

As is the case for supermarkets and restaurants across the UK, we are experiencing weekly increases in the prices of food and drink, with food inflation of 4% in January. Aspens are working closely with our chefs and supply partners to introduce new products and dishes, along with driving the best deals we can but these mitigations have limits.

The Government is increasing the minimum wage by 4% in April. This is a positive move that will mean our teams are better able to address the cost pressures they are under, which is great progress, but does subsequently create funding pressures.

The situation is far from ideal; we would like as many students to enjoy our services as much as possible and we appreciate price increases make this harder, particularly when many families are feeling the effects of the general cost of living crisis. That said, we believe our food continues to offer excellent value for money against the £3.16 meal cost in most local authority schools.

As always, thank you for your support and understanding. We will continue to partner with schools, students and parents to explore new approaches and gain input and feedback as we navigate this challenging period.
